JOY AND JAY

Joy found out that television was taking too much of her time. She had so many favorite programs that she spent too much time watching them. She is not able to complete her homework. Her older brother Jay, likes to watch TV also, but, unlike Joy, he only selects the ones he has time for, and still has enough time to complete his homework.

When the alarm goes off in the morning, Joy has trouble getting up and must be called several times. Jay says younger people need more sleep than adults. Sometimes Joy is late for school, but since her older brother leaves earlier, she has not been tardy. Jay is trying to teach his sister the importance of punctuality.

a ten-o'clock scholar!
What makes you come so soon?
You used to come at ten o'clock,
but now you come at noon!”*
